The Internship and Field Experience class has three main goals:
1. learn about ways in which training in psychology can be put to use
2. relate field work to information learned in psychology classes and to career goals
3. develop useful psychological skills

This agreement is a statement of common expectations based on mutual respect between all parties involved: student, faculty, and community partner. Specific goals for each student should be created between the community partner, the student, and the course instructor (see next page).

Please note: This example is for a non-clinical placement, and the requirement for a psychology or related degree (e.g., LCSW) for the supervisor is not applicable here.

Goal 1: Learn how Psychology fits into the Mission and Goals of my Organization.

Specific activities:
1. Conduct a literature search and find 3 recent articles from professional academic journals that look at psychological aspects of this type of organization (from the past 10 years).

One article should be more specifically geared towards a current mission of my organization (e.g., increasing community donations for homeless individuals) and how psychological knowledge is relevant to that mission.
2. After approval from the instructor, read each article and write a 1-page summary of it.

Goal 2: Develop a plan to use psychological principles to further a goal my organization has.

Specific activities:
1. Participate in ongoing outreach activities (meetings with service learning coordinators at local schools).
2. Read an additional article about persuasion techniques.
3. Develop recommendations for how persuasion techniques could be used in outreach.

Goal 3: Examine how psychological research could be used to evaluate the success of outreach efforts.

Specific activities:
1. Develop a catalog of different outreach activities
2. Participate in processing donations
3. Discuss ways of evaluating outreach success with supervisors.

In completing these goals, the student intends to commit to ___3___ hours per week for 12 weeks, for a total of ___36___ hours over the course of the semester.
