

Jacqueline M. Chen
Addendum to Vita

Grants in Preparation

National Science Foundation “RETTL: Teaching Time Management Skills in Context with an AI-Enabled Digital Coach” due October 2021
Role: co-PI (PI: Wiese, Computing), Approx. Budget: $849,827.00

National Science Foundation “FW-HTF: Supporting Future Remote Workers in Managing Time and Work-Life Boundaries” due March 2022
Role: co-PI (PI: Wiese, Computing), Approx. Budget: $2,500,00.00

Conference Submissions Under Review

*graduate student supervisee

Chen, J.M. Colorism around the world: Examining skin tone bias variability and consequences. Research under review for presentation at the annual meeting of the Society for Personality and Social Psychology in co-chaired symposium with Franki Kung on “Bias isn’t WEIRD: Exploring intergroup biases around the world.”

Nam, Y.* , Chen, J.M., Piff, P.K. Social class differences in social preferences for loyalty. Single presenter submission under review for the annual meeting of the Society for Personality and Social Psychology.

Neufeld, B.* , Butner, J., Chen, J.M., White, P. A dynamical systems approach to understanding implicit bias. Single presenter submission under review for the annual meeting of the Society for Personality and Social Psychology.

Norman, J.B.* , & Chen, J. M. Racial ambiguity and impression formation. Research under review for presentation at the annual meeting of the Society for Personality and Social Psychology in Stats Atwood and Jessica Glazer (co-chairs) symposium, “Taking a closer look: Investigating the fluidity of social categorization.”

Tang, Y.* , Chen, J.M., & Baucom, B.R.W. The relationship between group-level implicit and explicit gender-science attitudes. Single presenter submission under review for the annual meeting of the Society for Personality and Social Psychology.